

Updates from Einstein College of Australia during the Latest COVID-19 Restrictions

We accept new student applications, provide training and assessment, orientations, and student support services online from 3 August 2020 until further notice from the government.

3 August 2020

Dear Students,

Einstein College of Australia has been following the rules and instructions from the Victorian and Australian governments to ensure that we can respond as quickly as possible to the rapidly changing Coronavirus (COVID-19) pandemic since March 2020.

Due to the new COVID-19 pandemic development and the new lockdown restrictions in Victoria, we must follow the restriction rules to protect our students', our staff's and our communities' health, safety and lives as our top priority during this extremely difficult time. We temporarily close our campus and all onsite services from 3 August 2020 for six weeks or until we receive further notice from the Victorian government. We provide online enrolment and orientation services, and online training and assessment until we receive further notice from the government. Practical training and assessment will be carried out at a later stage when the situation permits/ the restrictions are lifted.

Upon receiving a new student application online, our enrolment team will thoroughly assess the application. We will offer an enrolment to students after our online enrolment team members have carefully assessed that the applicants have met our enrolment criteria through the online enrolment process.
